

Spectrum Creates Web-Services Interface to NOVAtime

HR best-of-breed providers, Spectrum and NOVAtime, have built a web-services interface between iVantage and the NOVAtime 3000 Enterprise Edition. This interface allows clients to seamlessly transition information in real-time from the HRIS to the time and attendance system.

Denver, Colo. (PRWEB) September 14, 2006 -- Spectrum Human Resource Systems Corp. announced the completion of a web-services interface from its iVantage® HR system to NOVAtime® Technology Inc.'s time and attendance system, NOVAtime 3000 Enterprise Edition.

The interface allows clients using iVantage and the NOVAtime 3000 Enterprise Edition to seamlessly transition information from the HRIS to the time and attendance system.

“The interface allows system users to save time and money in their day-to-day operations, and it gives both NOVAtime and Spectrum a competitive advantage,” says Eric Lund, national sales manager at NOVAtime.

“We believe in partnering with best-of-breed providers, and NOVAtime’s product is a comprehensive solution that provides high-value for our clients,” comments Sybll Romley, president and CEO at Spectrum.

iVantage is a fully functional web-based HRIS. NOVAtime 3000 Enterprise Edition is a scalable, feature-rich time and attendance solution.

The interface is now available.
